LONDON, May 8.—The British and Germans throughout Monday were still engaged in violent fighting for possession of the town of Bullecourt, midway between Arras and Cambrai, and also in this immediate region at Roeux and between Fontaine and Reincourt. The British forces are now on the northern, western and eastern outskirts of Bullecourt, leaving only the southern side of the town available for a retreat of the Germans still inside. Unofficial reports have asserted that the British entered well into the town and that hand to hand fighting was going on. North of this sector the report is that heavy German attacks at Roeux and between Fontaine and Reincourt were repulsed during the day, while still further north, in the region of Lens, the British official communication records the repulse of a third German counter attack on the newly acquired British positions south of the Souchez River. TEN YEAR OLD GIRL IS LOST

Disappeared Into Brush Some Days Ago and No Trace Is Found Since.

YONKER, Sask., May 7. — For several days the whole country has been searched, but without success by parties of settlers and the provincial parties of settlers and the provincial police, for the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Griggs, who has been lost in the brush since the afternoon of April 26th. On that day the child, with her little brother, aged seven years, went out to find some stock which had sirayed. The children saw some Indians coming along the trail, and the girl was frightened and ran into the brush.

The boy came home and told what happened, and the parents hunted all that day for the missing child, but in yain. The alarm was then given to all the people living in the neighborshood and to the police. Brush hills and lakes for miles around have been secured, but not a trace of the girl has has been carried through without a single setback up to the present moment.

It was the privilege of the correspondent of the Canadian Associated Press to behold something of the last attack made by the Canadians on the German lines at Fresnoy. The attack began just before dawn, in such a concentrated fury of gunfre that it seemed impossible that any living thing could survive, but when the Canadians did move forward there was a most strenbous opposition awaiting them. It would detract from their tenacity if one made light of what they had to meet. However, they arrived at their objective long before the sun was high, and now the guns of both sides are again pounding away steadily in the manner which is associated with humdrum operations.

General Byng'a message to the Canadians has alroady been issued. There was no doubt of the wholehearted pleasure he finds in being head of a corps which has had such a consistent measure of success.

The correspondent failed on this visit to the Canadians front to find any officer of high rank who expects to see Canada again just yet. They are more than satisfied with the progress that is being made, but they realize that there is to be hard fighting—and much of it—before the army can pack up and go home.

Hon. W. J. Roche, Minister of Interior, Explains Proposed Land Settlement Legislation for Returned Soldiers—Agricultural In-struction Will Also Be Provided for Inexperienced Men—Rush of Immigration Is Expected After War, Says Minister.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) OTTAWA, May 7 .- When the house met this afternoon Sir George Foster, acting premier. who returned from Washington yesterday, was in his place. Hon. Frank Oliver, who has been confined to his home for several days with a severe cold, was also in attendance.

OTTAWA, May 7.—In the commons this evening, Hon. Dr. W. J. Roche, minister of the interior, introduced the resolution upon which a bill providing for land settlement for returned soldiers will be based. Dr. Roche said they expected a rush of immigration after the war. The British government recognized this and wanted to keep British settlers within the empire. This was important both from an economic and national standpoint. The legislation they propose would apply to all soldiers of Canada, Great Britain, or the overseas dominions.

THINK HOLLWEG IS SITTING ON FENCE

British Opinion Holds That German Chancellor Is Playing For Time.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, May 7.—The opinion prevails in British circles that the German chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, was "sitting on the fence," in the matter of announcing German peace proposals. It is believed here that he is playing for time in an attempt to lot the fighting run through the summer before he commits himself. The German chancellor was anxious to see the outcome of the submarine campaign, of the fighting on the western front and of the Russian crisis, before he definitely announces a "no annexation" program. Likewise, it is believed, he is delaying in the matter of internal reform, hoping that the trend of events will make it possible to ignore a large part of the demands for such action. they wished. It had been decided, however, not to confine the financial assistance to returned soldiers in the three western provinces but to make loans to soldiers locating on the farms in any province. The legislation was designed to assist returned soldiers to locate on the land and to assist in increased agricultural production.

Nothing But New Loan

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said this was very important legislation and suggested that 8the house go into committee at some future date. Apart from the money loan, he said, the government offered no more to the soldiers than was offered the settler now. His impression was that very little was left of homestead land but there was a great deal in the hands of private persons. He asked if there was the agricultural training.

W. A. Buchanan put forward the suggestion that there were desirable lands held as Indian reserves and as leases, but in nearly every case the reserves were far too large for the Indians using them. They might be taken over for the soldiers, and involve the purchase of Indian lands and in that case they could not be given to the soldiers free.

Not Reward but Assistance

G. E. McCraney said he was glad to see that the land was not given as a reward, but as an assistance to soldiers who would alwolve the purchase of Indian lands and in that case they could not be given to the soldiers free.

Not Reward but Assistance do for the fain as a reward, but as an assistance of the provider of the providers of the provider of fast as compatible with the best public interests."

Represent an Addition

It was explained that these engineer forces were not in any way connected with the army organization planted by the war department and already made known. They represent an addition to the total military preparedates program upon which the country is now engaged. In effect the region ments will be additional technical units of the army which the administration bill authorized the president to cranize in whatever numbers and on whatever plans he deems best. The strength of an engineer regiment is approximately 2,000 men which would make a total of 18,000 men to be assembled in the new force. As it is specified that the troops are for use on communication lines presumably on railways, highways, and telephone and telegraph lines it is assumed that the men will be drawn as far as possible from railway employees and the forces of the telegraph and telephone companies.

Where Officers to be Secured

Where Officers to be Secured Where Officers to be Secured Additional officers to supplement those detailed from the active list of the army or from the officers' reserve corps probably would be sought among the engineers now engaged with the work of the same character as that which the troups will be called upon to do in France.

Because of the technical nature of the tasks before them it is regarded as probable that no preliminary military training will be necessary for these troops and that they can be sent forward as rapidly as they can be re-forward as rapidly as they can be re cruited, officered and supplied with personal equipment.

Board Of Trade Campaign Off To Flying Start

Able Addresses Are Filled With Optimism for Future of Edmonton; More Farm Population for District

Business and Professional Men of City Banquet at Macdonald Last Night and Discuss Plans for Greater Publicity of Agricultural Possibilities of Edmonton District—Co-Operation and Development of Community Spirit Is Keynote of Speeches.

The Board of Trade's campaign for publicity and membership went off to a flying start on Monday night, when some 300 citizens, representing business and professional interests in the city, met at a banquet at the Macdonald Hotel, and thus showed their sympathy with the object the Board has in view. The Board of Trade wants to help the city, and to do this it is believed that the best way is to get the surrounding land settled with farmers of the best class. To obtain these men means that they have got to be informed of the success that attends farming in the district, and to pay for this publicity work the Board of Trade wants to obtain some 800 new members. And it is on the road to success. A list of 50 or more fresh members was read at the dinner, and the big gathering (President Brown said "The most representative gathering the Board of Trade has ever had"), was another token, and it was revealed in the enthusiasm shown over the project. "Cooperation and the development of the community spirit for the advancement of the city," was the key-note of the speeches, and the unity of object and willingness expressed to work together for the public good must mean well for the city in the future. the book around to good prospects. One idea was to send the book round to the senior and junior year classes of the agricultural colleges in the States, as this was thought to be a way of getting the literature in more than ordinarily intelligent hands. Going through the States now was a different matter to what it used to be, people knew something about the country now, but their ideas wanted bringing to a head, and if the people in the south of the province got a little more busy than Edmonton they would get them. He asked everyone present to co-operate in getting the money for the campaign, and if they knew of farmers who had a good record to give in their names. Mr. Chadwick humorously alluded to the fact that the farmers' stories were so good in general that they would not be believed.

F. M. Black's Address

Mayor Heary.

"Nothing is more valuable than the development of the co-operative and the community spirit here now," said Mayor Henry, who led off the speakers. "It can do more for our city now than anything else, and I hope that this meeting is going to mark the starting point of a great development and of the community spirit along industrial lines." Mayor Henry's text was "What value can the Board of Trade be to the city," and he remarked that a man could take up the balance of the evening telling of the value that it could be. "We have evidence of it here," said the Mayor. "It was a happy thought to call together such a representative gathering as we have here, and manifesting such a splendid spirit."

Many Problems to Face.

representative gathering as we have here, and manifesting such a splendid spirit."

Many Problems to Face.
Continuing, the Mayor said that the development of their city, like others in the west, had given them many problems to face, but they did so with confidence born of the conviction that in Edmonton they had the making of one of the greatest cities in the west. He recalled the great resources to their hand, the one hundred million acres in the province, only five percent of which was cultivated, the lumber, the mineral wealth, the fisheries, and it brought them to where the Board of Trade could help. They could develop only atong industrial lines. They could not expect boom days again, so they must establish industries, create pay-rolls. The Board of Trade could help by bringing industries. They could not be brought by giving bonuses, they must have markets, and to give them markets there must be the people. By publicity given by the Board of Trade much could be done to bring the people here. Some might suggest that this was a government matter, the business of the government was to start the flow of immigration, but the Board of Trade could divert the flow to Edmonton.

More Co-operation, Says Dr. Tory

of Trade could divert the flow to Edmonton.

More Co-operation, Says Dr. Tory
"If we could cut out a little of the competition among us, and get a little more co-operation, it would increase business 50 per cent.," said Dr. Tory, president of the University of Alberta, who spoke on "The value of organization." Organization, said the speaker, can be called the machine for putting to the best effect the united thoughts and working of a number of people. It must have for its object something that was worth while. He took it that in the Board of Trade there was a common purpose—the well-being of the community in which they lived, and how they could increasingly benefit the city by their work.

Possibilities of Research.

Referring to the fact that they must have a clear idea of what they wantded to accomplish, Dr. Tory said that there were great possibilities in the province in the way of research—both acricultural and mineral. As instance. igricultural and mineral. As instance how much this was needed he alluded to the army of thousands of chemists engaged in research who were behind Germany's industries before the war broke out. They needed, he emphasized, a group of men like the Board of Trade to stand behind and give support to similar work in the province. He referred to the visit paid to the University by the members of the Rotary Club, and how surprised they were when visiting the laboratories at what was being done in this direction, and he asked for similar interest from the Board of Trade. He asked them to think of them all as working to the one end.

Farmers Are Needed.
"We want farmers here to cultivate "We want farmers here to cultivate our lands, and not merely homesteaders to push back our frontiers," said G. B. Chadwick, chairman of the Board of Trade Publicity Committee, who outlined the publicity campaign which the Board of Trade is taking in hand. There were some people, he said, who did not know how much had been accomplished in the district by means of publicity. The best way to advertise the country was to "show the people," They could not show all the people, but the next best thing was to show exhibits. This had been done and had been responsible for a large number of farmer settlers. He believed that the exhibits at the Chicago stock show was the result of his father's efforts.

Need of Publicity Idterature.

Now they were shut out from this advertising, and so the last best thing to do was to issue a well-written book with pictures and authorite statements from farmers. There was never a heter time to do this han now, and a that an important factor in local conditions was that the only products of the soil that could suitably be grown here in large quantities were those that could best stand exporting, referring particularly to grain, live stock and live stock products. Here the live stock industry was nore profitable than any other and any scheme for the development of the live stock industry meant that the farmers must have enough land for pasturage and hay, and as he had remarked before, this meant more than a quarter section of land. If they wanted the farmers here they had to pay the price and that was more than one quarter section of land.

F. M. Hack's Address.

"In the matter of publicity the great point that has to be observed is telling the truth," said F. M. Black. Galary board of trade. Mr. Black Callary board on doubt of that being done here because all the evening he had heard not a word of city lots, but a great deal of the country about Edmonton. The speaker alluded to the gathering as to relate what had been done at Calgary, where although they had been told that it could not be done, the board of trade before he left had gone into headquarters with a three-year war bonds. The speaker advocated the establishment of a commercial centre, where business men could meet and study the situation. The great trouble was always the failure of their committed the causes of friction. LABOR MEN OF CITY ARRANGE MASS MEETING

Trades and Labor Council Decide Upon Action at Last Night's

For the purpose of discussing the organization of a labor representation league, a mass meeting will be held in Edmonton on the 30th of this month. Besdes this question the Factory Act, as passed at the last session of the Alberta legislature, and the granting of a half holiday once a week among the retail businesses of the city, will be discussed at length. It is intended to secure special speakers for the night. This action was decided on at the meeting of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council last night.

According to the present intentions the labor unions are going to organize the league along the same lines as the one in Calgary. The chief object of the league will be to promote legislation in the local and Dominion houses and the securing and nominating of labor candidates.

Following a short address by C. W. Langford, of Calgary, in which the objects of the Industrial Commercial Survey were explained, J. Knight, of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, introduced a motion to the effect that the Trades and Labor Council would not take any action in connection with the alding of returned soldiers in learning new trades. The motion was defeated.

The Industrial Commercial Survey form consists of a number of questions which Dr, Miller, of Calgary, has asked the labor unions of this province to answer so that he will be in a better position to help the returned soldiers.

A communication from the London, Ont. Trades and Labor Council, asking that the local council adopt a resolution requesting the prohibiting of the manufacture of ice cream during the war was filed.

LOW FIRE LOSS FOR EDMONTON, Out of all the cities in the Dominion equipped with modern fire-fighting appliances, Edmonton has the lowest fire loss per head, being $2.20, while the highest is Saskatoon, with $12.07. This shows that the money spent on the city's fire department has not been in vain. The number of aiarms per 10,000 population is 76, this being the highest of any city save Quebec, which stands at $2, so this puts the city in the position of having the lowest fire loss per head with next to the highest number of alarms, which is great testimony to the effectiveness of the fighting system in the city. CITY PETITIONED TO SPEND THIS YEAR OVER $130,000 FOR NEW SEWERS AND SIDEWALKS

Public Works Committee Taking Up Requests in Detail—Mill Creek Ratepayers Hand in Huge Petition Containing Over 500 Names. Sewer Extensions Would Cost $115,000.

The public works committee of the city council has started on its preliminary consideration of what construction work is imperative to be carried out this year. Every spring there are hundreds of applications for sewer and water extensions received by the city, also petitions for sidewalks, and it becomes the duty of the public works committee, assisted by the engineer's department, to pick what is essential out of the whole and see that the matter is placed before council in the right light with the idea of any absolutely necessary work being carried out.

This year the total of the applications for sidewalks, if all the work was carried out, would cost the city $16.000, while applications for sewers amount to $115,000, this amount, however, including the estimate for the extension to the Burn's Packing plant.

Few Applications Heard.

Some of the applications have been considered, but nothing definite has been done or will be done for a time as the committee has to go over the whole of the ground, and see the condition of things at first hand. A start on this tour of inspection will be made on Tuesday morning.

A deputation from the Bonnie Doon Ratepayers' Association attended the committee meeting on Monday morncommittee meeting on Monday morning, and presented a huge petition which stood for the owners of some 550 lots in the district, asking that the repairs and sidewalk for Connor's Hill road, already surveyed and estimated upon as a local benefit, should be put in hand as early as possible. The area to be taxed for the benefit is the district east of Mill Creek ravine, south of the hill brow, north of 88th avenua and west of and including Silver Heights.

There were two property owners in the district who attended the meeting and objected to the improvement. On the behalf of the petitioners it was stated that only four who had been asked to sign the petition had refuse it do so.

The question of street lighting along the St. Alberta trail was gone into, but it was decided to recommend that nothing should be done in the matter.

Municipal Department Issues Pro-nouncement To This General Effect.

From now on there will be no telephones available for those who live or rent offices in blocks or apartment houses, unless they have a telephone installed and pay for it themselves.

The general practice has been for the owner of a block to have a telephone installed in such a position in the block where it would be convenient for the general use of all those who rent in the place, but this system has now to be discontinued, and the owners have received notice from the telephone department that the telephones will be moved to places where they will be the most suitable for the exclusive use of those who sign the contract. contract.

It is pointed out by the department that the telephone is not for general utility and that its use is a privilege to which the person who pays for the installation alone has the right.

Twenty Fair Nurses Receive Diplomas Upon Graduation

Royal Alexandra Hospital Sends Out Largest Class In Its History-Closing Exercises Are Held Last Night At University Convocation Hall and Are Largely Attended.

Graduation classes are always interesting and perhaps none so interesting as that of the nurses of the Royal Alexandra Hospital. At least that was the opinion of those who attended the graduating exercises of the class of 1917 held in Convocation hall Monday night at the invitation of the Edmonton hospital board and the officers of the training school for nurses. There was a splendid gathering of the members of the medical profession and representatives of the clergy, besides hosts of friends of the class. The chairman was John A. McDougall, who gave a very excellent address and with him on the platform was His Honor Lieut-Gov. Brett, Mayor Henry, Dr. Tory, Miss Campbell, lady superintendent of the hospital, Dr. E. W. Allin, Hon. A. C. Rutherford and Mrs. W. J. Meirose.

That to me seemed a very good motto to base my report on as I come to you tonight with the review of what our school has been trying to do in the way of preparing nurses for the profession that have chosen.

might be a dearth of nurses to fill the positions in our country.

During the winter 46 lectures have been given, and may I take this opportunity to express our appreciation of so much valuable time given by those doctors who lectured to our pupils helping us so materially in this department of our work.

Some of these lectures were given at the university and were very interesting, as it means so much to our pupils to have the demonstrations as well as the regular lectures and may

Class Work Extended

Our class work has extended as much as possible. Since October 1st, 102 classes have been given by the lady superintendent and her assistant, lady superintendent and her assistant, and there are still some weeks left before the year's work shall be finished. Our thanks are also due to Mrs. Dulmage for the splendid course in massage she has given and we feel that our nurses have had the advantage of many larger hospitals in this respect therefore we are pleased to

I have thought it wise to encourage the inter-reduct and junior classes by the interrediate and junior classes by offering two prizes for general proficiency. These will be presented by Dr. Tory, president of the university, who so kindly offered us the use of convocation half for our exercises. We are indeed very grateful to the overnors of the university for this or the university for the privilege.

On August 28th the school sustained an almost irreparable loss in the death of our much loved lady superintendent, Miss Gilmour, and I feel that I cannot let this occasion pass without voicing the sentiment of the school in voicing the sentiment of the school in the most emphatic manner as to what we owe to her influence. She has given us a great example and her life might be said to have been consecrat-ed to her profession. She was never satisfied with anything less than the best for her nurses and has given the nurses of the Royal Alexandra hos-pital a very high ideal to live up to.

Obey Country's Call

We have been passing through a series of changes, so many of our head nurses and several of our graduhaving answered their country' ates having answered their country's call. The first to respond was Miss Ratty, then Miss McRae, our very efficient operating room nurse, Miss Myrthe Gray has gone overseas with the Queen Alexandra Imperial nursing staff, and recently Miss Miller, Miss McNee and Miss Acton have given their services. Tonight we present to you a class of iwenty, the largest class we have had the honor of graduating; fourteen of these nurses are from the Royal Alexandra hospital and six from the Stratheona hospital. I may say that the amalgamation has proved to be a real one in the case of the South Side nurses and we feel they are as much interested in the good name of the Royal Alexandra hospital as our own nurses and in this connection I feel that I have had to a marked extent the loyal co-operation of the extent the loyal co-operation of the graduating class. (From a Staff Correspondent of The Associated Press)

With the British Aimiles in France, via London, May 7—German military writers have been referring of late to the Hindenburg line as a living, mobile wall, which by means of its various switch lines can bend backward and forward as if moving on so many hinges. Now, however, the men of the living wall are fighting behind great barriers of their dead. The Germans, in fact, seem to be carrying out their defensive battles with the same unshakeable bellef in the power of mass that characterized their first ouslaught upon the forts on the Belgian frontier, and later their fulle offensive against Vordum.

The British assaulting lines in the recept fighting, thanks to the overwholming weight of the artillery behind them, have been in nothing like the strength of the German defending troops. Similarly, the Germans have delivered their counter-attacks with forces of men outnumbering three-fold the British holding the positions upon which the attempts were directed. The Germans had to make these counter-attacks in the open, under the very eyes of the British field guns, and the losses entailed have been visibly enormous. It is not possible to visit a battery in the Arras sector without hearing of the wonderful shooting they have had of late. There has been nothing like it since the war began, so far as the British are concerned. The khali gunners are paying off old scores contracted in the carly days when the German artillery dominated and there was not a single high calibred British cannon on the continent.

The co-operation of the airplanes and artillery in smashing the counterattacks has been little short of marvellous. The flying machines have quickly discovered the gathering of troops and sent the information by wireless back to the batteries, with the result that the guns were trained and ready the minute the gray clad hordes issued from the protecting trees or a village, simply smothering them under high explosives and sheets of leaden shr gold cuff links for the nighest marks from the lady superintendent, as did Miss Annie Mildred Pritchard, for bandaging. The Nightingale Pldege
Dr. E. W. Allin read the Nightingale Pledge to the class and which they solemnly repeated as follows:

"I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal material constructions computed to my keeping and hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work, and devote myself to the wolfare of those committed to my care."

This brought the graduating program to a close with the singing of the National Anthem and was followed by an invitation to Athabasca hail, where refreshments were served and dancing indulged in. Miss Campbell made a charming hostess and

GOOD-BYE

It is such pain
Loving you, dear,
Oh! how I fear
To let you go,
I love you so,
Why should I dread?—

Why should I dread?—
I saw you dead,
Dear, in my dreams,
How real it seems?
God, what a price
You...I...sacrifice.
Yes, dear, I know
I must let you go—
No, I won't cry.

Dear heart, good-bye.

Peace River, May 4.—Several hundred persons met the Edmonton train today, Friday, to give welcome to a brave soldier, Captain Coombs, who not only has done his country honor by signal bravery, but is ready to continue that service his country needs from all to make victory certain.

The train steamed into the station amid the singing of the scholars of the public school. For the event, the children had been training and were marshalled by the principal, Mr. Russell, assisted by the teachers. Captain Thomson, of the Salvation Army, led the music with the cornet, and people getting off the train waved their hats as the notes of the "Maple Leaf" broke out. me how to make a mock cherry pie?

When it is recalled that, as at Gavrells, there had been nearly twenty unsuccessful attacks of this character, some idea of the German losses can be had. Since the dead left behind tell the tale, great enforts have been made latterly by the Germans to clear the battlefields of their dead wherever it is possible to do so. More recently orders have been captured on the subject, together with one urgent appeal from a company commander that big wagons be sent immediately to carry away our dead." That tired feeling that comes to you in the spring year after year, is a sign that your blood lacks vitality, just as pimples, boils, and other eruptions are signs that it is impure; and it is also a sign that your system is in a low or run-down condition inviting disease. It is a warning, which it is wise to heed.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old standard tried and true blood medicine relieves that tired feeling. It cleanses the blood, gives new life, new courage strength and cheerfulness. It makes the rich red blood that will make you feel, look, eat and sleep better.

Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla. It embodies the careful training, experience, and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure. That tired feeling that comes to

PARTY LEADS

Premier Hughes With Liberal Coalition Assured of Victory In Lower House.

MELBOURNE, May 6.—Early returns from today's elections indicate that the Nationalists, of which Premier Hughes is the leader, have won several seats in the lower house and are assured of a majority there. The complexion of the senate has not been determined by the first returns. Premier Hughes was re-elected to the house.

mier Hughes was re-elected to the house.

Officials of the Labor party, of which Premier Hughes formerly was leader, split recently on the question of conscription, which Hughes strongly advocated and the party machine disowned him. The premier with some other Laborites, who still supported him, formed a coalition with the Liberal party, whose leader is Frank Cook, and took for their slogan the phrase "Win the War."

The Hughes-Cook coalition stood for the strongest possible Australian war policy and in opposition to the official Labor party.

Much bitterness arose in the campaign by charges against Premier Hughes that he offered a bribe to Senator Watson, of New South Wales, to obtain his support.

The election was the first federal parliamentary election held since Hughes became prime minister more than two years ago.

Captain Harry Coombs Receives Facing Rigors of War

tain Thomson, of the Salvation Army, led the music with the cornet, and people getting off the train waved their hats as the notes of the "Maple Lear" broke out.

When the train came to a stop and Captain Harry Coombs stepped from the carriage he was met by a ringing voiley of cheers. "Hello, Herry," broke out from several quarters and recognising the voices he responded, "Never felt better in my life."

It will be recalled that Capt. Coombs joined the forces in the earliest days of the war and that to do so he had to travel with several others long distances to get to recruiting posts. He had been in a comfortable position in the George store in Peace River and hias a homestead nearby. But senseing the greatness of the task confronting the Allies and realizing the fact that ultimate victory could only be attained if the forces of the Allies were adequate to hold the enemy, he determined to help by joining at once. This meant a trip which to tenderfeet would be terrible. Leaving Peace River without certainty of being accepted and paying his own expenses, which amounted to over $60, he made his way to Grouard over abominable roads, walking most of the way. Thence by lake and river to Edmonton, where he was one of the first to enlist, and, being accepted, he joined as a private. Through merit and sheer determination to do his part well he was promoted until now he holds the commission of captain. He has been wounded on several occasions. His last experiences were in barbed wire entanglements, in which he was trapped with several others and from which it is a wonder any returned alive. In all his experiences he has shown a modesty characteristic of men of noble spirit, seeking not his own, but the general good.

Men who knew him here in the early days speak of him as "white." He is known as a clean, healthy and splendid specimen of manhood. Because of the first to return from the scene of the war, though only for a short visit, the citizens feit that they could not allow the occasion to pass without showing what t

Mesers. Menzie Brothers have been busy for some time overhauling the s.s. "Nasco" and fitting her up for the fishing trade, and in her new form one would hardly recognize her. By all appearance, the fishing industry on Leeser Slave Lake during the coming summer will reach vast proportions, and when the possibilities of this lake are taken into account it is not to be wondered at. If the Government could only be induced to establish a hatchery and so supplement to a considerable degree the natural supply there is no doubt but this industry could be greatly increased.

Angus McKay has disposed of his ranch here, consisting of nearly five hundred acres, to B. A. See, who, we understand, intends to stock it very heavily with cattle. Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns so they lift out.

Ouch !?!?!! This kind of rough talk will be heard sess here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few grops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain.

He says freezone is a sticky substance which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce, which will cost very little at any drug store, is said to be sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this arnouncement since the inauguration of the high heels.

Crossing, as this is the point at which passengers to and from Grouard have been taking the train ror the past two years or nearly so, was promptly informed by the tleket agent that no such place existed on the line, and had this party been less familiar with the conditions here he would have been obliged to purchase a ticket for Norvey; in fact, he was told that there was no station at this point. We can hardly see what the object is in still persistently refusing to recognize this place when it is a well-known fact that the Rallway Commission ordered a station to be built at this point last fall, and, in fact, a station has been there since last fall. We could also quote instances of passengers asking conductors where to leave the train in order to get to Grouard, and were told that they did not know and had no idea of where Grouard was. For the information of those we might say that Tomkins' Crossing is the place, and, if not sure as to where that is, watch for the point at which the most passengers get off and on except at the terminals and you will be pretty certain to get off at Tomkin's Crossing, where you will be met by teams and autos, which will land you in Grouard in a very short time.

TERPSICHOREAN ART HAS BIG PART OF PANTAGES BILL

Pantages bill this week is mostly ade up of acts the press agents proclaim to be "terpsichorean concep which translated into our ery-day vocabulary means a variety every-day vocabulary means a variety of dances, and the performers are there with the varieties. There are classic dances and ragtime dances. There are step dances and toe dances. There are step dances of high and low degree. However Mile Birnco, the headliner and the members of her company have one of the most complete acts of its kind that has been in the city for a long time. It is perfected to the verlest detail. The classical music, the exquisite costumes and the beautiful backgrounds, especially in the Russian and Egyptian dances, combined with the grace and spirit of the dancers make it an entertainment of the highest order.

Quite different is the impression left by Katherine McConnel, the paprika girl, who assists Ed. F. Reynard, the ventriloquist. In her dancing numbers there is a certain hoyendish abandonment and her costumes are so scant that they do not "get by" with the majetiv of nearly. of dances, and the performers are

Will Morrissey and Frank Clifford made every minute of their time a minute of fun, for they have a good line of music, song and patter. Will can sing and Freddie can "annoy" the plano in a most amusing manner.

Honeymoon Isle is a musical comedy that "isn't too bad." There is a trio of male voices, John Carroll, Larry Keating, Ray Fay, that is the best part of it. The chorus seems a very lively good looking chorus, and Ray Fay, the leading man, has a good voice.

And here we are to the second episode of Pearl of the Army, and are more mystified than ever as to the identity of the "Silent Menace." However Pearl has at last "got him," and presumably finished him, for she has knocked him off one of New York's sky scrapers. Pearl, too, has at last had a look at his face, but at this point the picture fades away until next week, when the horrible mystery will be disclosed.

CLUNE'S SECOND BIG FILM ACHIEVEMENT,

Made by the producers of the beautiful "Ramona," the claborate Clune production of Harold Bell Wright's greatest story, "The Eyes of the World," which comes to the Empire Theatre May 10 for a three-day engagement, is the second big achievement of a company which turns out only the greatest film subjects.

The Clune Company spends months on each of its efforts where other producers spend days or weeks. Most motion picture studios divide their energies among a number of subjects and turn them out with commercial baste, One of the leading American companies recently boasted that it had spent thirty whole days on a certain photoplay—meaning parts of days, because it had other things in the "works." Another company which perhaps better represents the master with so many of the film offerings?"—bragged in print that it had turned out a complete five-reel play in six days.

That it should so happen that at the very time when the eyes of the world are turned ioward the Philadelphia Hospital in which the world's greatest actress is lying, hovering between life and death, that she should come to Edmonton in ber last great stage production is indeed formation. When the word was first received that Sarah Bernhardt, was seriously ill. Manager Itaweire, of the Majesty Theatre, sent a rush message to the producers of the Bluebird Photoplays asking them to rush the great Bluebird flim, Jeanne Dore, to Edmonton and to mame their own price. And so the great photo-drama record of the Divine Sarah, in her last great stage success, is to be presented in Edmonton, while the wonderful French actress is suffering from what is probably her last-filmess.

The play Jeanne Dore is a Bluebird Masterplece. It was also her last stage play, for it was while she was appearing in Jeanne Dore that the famous tragediente had to undergo the perils of a surgical operation. When she was discharged one of her lower limbs had been amputated, and her recourse to an artificial support was undertaken.

Great as she was, she found the substitute an unconquerable deterrent to her complete return to stage usefulness; she had previously been able to cunningly imitate lameness, but she found it far more difficult to imitate perfect locomotion with an artificial support.

COHAN LIVELY FILM STAR FEATURED IN "BROADWAY JONES"

It is a question what George M. Cohan will turn his versatile mind and hand to next after motion-pictures, but one thing is quite certain, besides being chalked up with Abou Ben Adem as one "who loves his fellow men," either in or out of the theatrical profession, and being Uncle Sam's best little press agent for the flag, he is also a howling success as a fim actor. This was proved beyond cavil yesterday at the Monarch Theatre, where "Broadway Jones," with Cohan in the title role was shown for the first time in Western Canada.

Cohan has always been known as a prolific song writer, a playwright with original ideas to burn and a saage director and producer who has few if any equals on the American stage. Now he adds to his many other talenis that of screen player, and that he is in the first rank is assured beyond doubt. In comedy ne will probably lead all the male stars before long, if "Broadway Jones" is a just criterion.

In presenting this, one of the most successful of the many successful Cohan plays, the Arteraft Corporation seems to have spared absolutely no expense if visual evidence can be accepted at its face value. Certainly nothing to compare with the cafe seene with the midnight revellers doing their host to help Broadway spend his money, has ever been seen on a local film screen. It is the last word in artistic endeavor and carefully planned and executed stagecraft. There are several other noteworthy accenes, but that of the cufe unquestionably stands out. The supporting company selected for Cohan is for the most part quite adequate in every respect. Anc of the additional treats of the program is the orchestral accompaniment, some of the Cohan sen lits being used during the exhibition of the pleture.

"THE MATRIMANIAC" AT THE EMPRESS

The first showing of "The Matrimante," Douglas Fairbanks' new Triangle film, which opened at the Empress Theatre for a three-day run yesterday, brought out big crowds, and no person was disappointed. "The Matrimaniae" is a lively comedy, so well suited to the acrobatic energies and general screen radiance of the irrepressible Fairbanks that it takes on the moment of a "rehicle"—but it is a vehicle that could move of its own accord. Fairbanks has the screen almost entirely to himself soon after he gets in action. His magnetic personality fixes attention from the outset, and his general performance is so satisfying that people are bound to enjoy it; he is compelling. It is quite among the possibilities that Fairbanks will eventually appear in lively comedies which afford opportunities to other members of the cast, to his own advantage. But in this no coniedy relief is needed to one following his activities; no other colinteral and intensifying movement for purpose of contrast is required. People enjoy nts "act-in-one" because he represents something to them. He illustrates clearly that there are tremendous sources of energy in nearly all men which are very seldom released. There lies hidden in our stagnant state of easy-going receptivity a secret recognition that few of us are really what we could be, that our capacities could respond to far greater performance than we are called upon to make. That we are not able to respond to our own aspirations is not our own fault nor that of our parents. The trouble lies in common ignorance of how the human plant can be best cultivated to advantage. Fairbanks represents physical agility and temperamental optimism, and it is really the latter quality that wins. His leaping and climbing feats would soon pail if he did not perpetually demonstrate that life is good and growing better, in spite of all pessimistic claims to the contrary. Therein lies the true charm of Fairbanks.

"The brilliant operations during the past month, culminating in the capture of Arleux and Fresnoy, seem to give me the op-portunity of expressing to all ranks the pride I feel in commanding the Canadian corps. Since April 9th, when the offense against vimy riage began, till the morning of May 3rd, when Fresnoy was captured and consolidated, it has been one series of successes, only obtained by troops whose courage and discipline and initiative stand pre-eminent. Nine villages have passed into our hands, eight German divisions have been met and defeated, over 5,000 prisoners have been captured and booty comprising some 64 guns and howitzers, 106 trench mertars and 126 machine guns are now the trophies of the Canadians, The training undergone during the winter has borne fruit and it is this training which, coupled with the zeal and gallantry which are so conspicuous in all ranks of the corps, that will continue to gain results as potent and as farreaching as those which began with the capture of Vimy ridge."

News of the District

CHERHILL

Bulletin Correspondence.

Working on the land commenced in this district on April 30th. There is a great rush and a bigger acreage will be put in this year than ever before. Only a few years ago oxen and a walking plow were commonly used here, but this year several have changed to broader and more powerful machinery. Several new seed drills have been bought by local farmers who used to sow their grain broadcast. C. Peterson, F. COOKING LAKE

Bulletin Correspondence.

Summer has come at last after all the waiting. The bright sunshine of the past few days has done much to dispel the gloom of the long weeks of anxious expectation unfulfilled. The heart of the farmer is gladdened as he realizes that "all things come to him who waits."

The ice on the lake had for some time been making feeble efforts towards a tardy departure and in the early part of the week about a hundred yards of the margin had thawed out but the Arctic weather of Wednesday and Thursday undid all this and the whole surface became again frozen over. Now, however, there are unmistakable symptoms of the final disruption which cannot be much longer delayed and with a continuance of the present delightful weather the lake should be onen by the end of this week.

Although vegetation is so backward should be onen by the 2nd of this week.

Although vegetation is so backward there are still many indications of the advancing summer. Birds were never more numerous in the district, and their delightful warbling is heard from early dawn till the shades of twilight, while every "slough" and pond is filled with myriads of frogs, whose discordant croaking constitutes a not very pleasing accompaniment to the sweet notes of the feathered songsters. The gothers, ever unwelcome visitors, are also numerous.

Since the ice commenced to thaw out on the lake fish are seen running in hundreds and they are literally swarming into the creeks and inlets for the purpose of spawning. The jack-fish are of unusually large size, some of them being fully three feet in length.

Free wheat is just as good a policy for peace time as for war THE PARTY

Epidemics are not bred on clean premises. Clean up.

Here's hoping that the furnace has finally gone out of action for the season.

The smoke of bon fires scents the evening breeze with a less injurious and offensive odor than will exhale next August from the piles of rubbish which ought to have been burned.

If it is safe to let the graindealing interests sell the Canadian wheat crop of 1916 in the United States, why was it not safe to let the farmers sell it there?

Why not a rank of Honorary Private for aspiring gentlemen who long to associate themselves with an unearned distinction but whose sense of the ridiculous will not allow them to blossom forth in the glories of an Honorary Colonelcy? Assuming that there are such.

General Mewburn says compulsion will have to be used to get men for the home guards camps. The chances are that it will. Voluntary enlistment flourishes only where there is clear recognition of the need of men. Apparently the eligible young man in army in Canada is any more needed than reinforcements for the fighting army in France. As he won't culist among the fighters, why expect him to join up with the campers?

The Executive of the Grand Council of the Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates has issued an announcement of "its firm assur-'ance that the peoples of all the 'belligerent countries will be able to overcome the resistance of "their Governments and force them to enter upon negotiations "for peace on the basis of renun-"ciation of all annexations and "indemnities." In other words that the Governments of the Allied countries, like the Governments of the Central Powers, are are fighting for territory or plunder; and that the sane thing is for the public in all these countries to rise against their Governments-as has been done in Russia -and force them to call the battle a draw and make truce on the basis of pre-war conditions, each nation to suffer its own loss, whether incurred by its own greed or thrust upon it by the brutality of the Huns. That Berlin would sign a "scrap of paper" to that effect there is no reason to doubtand then proceed at leasure to exterminate the nations which had been fools enough to take its word. As, the Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates appear to be the walking bosses of the Russian works this course of national humiliation and suicide is liable to be the one and suicide is liable to be the one half the amount of the loan, while Russia will take. There is Though a loan for the purchase of an awful possibility that free breeding stock cannot bring re-civilization might be literally sults as quickly as a loan for seed starved into submission to the diseiplined fiendishness of Kultur.

This is a problem that every Government in Canada should be concerned about, to the extent of doing something more effective than tendering advice. Talk is the farmer that he ought to grow more wheat and raise more meat animals. The market quotations have told him that for the past man. At the risk of being accused of class legislation the Government proposed, and the Legislature agreed, to put the credit and machinery and authority of the province into co-operative partnership with the farmer, to the end that he may farm better and farm more extensively.

By the Seed Grain Act, the Proincial Treasurer is empowered to authorize any person to advance seed grain to the holder or occu pant of patented land, or to au thorize a chartered bank to advance such person the money with which to purchase seed grain; the province guaranteeing payment of the debt. The offer applies equally to the wife or other representative of an owner or occupier who is on active ser-

Still another will be to enable farmers to equip their farms with buildings and other improvements necessary to the carrying on of larger operations. Still greater, perhaps, will be the indirect effect, in establishing the terms and conditions which loan companies will perhaps, will be the terms and conin establishing the terms and conditions which loan companies will have to concede if they wish to do a loaning business on farms in this province.

(1) Can B concede from "A"?

(2) What is the difference between a caveat and a judgment?

(3) When a caveat is filed against a place, does it have to be paid off at case, or can it remain until such time as the owner sees fit to pay it off? The title remains in "A's" possession until at the complete it.

The Co-operative Credit Act is a measure designed to help the farmer to help himself to get short term loans for the purchase of seed, feed and other farm supplies, the purchase of implements and machinery, the purchase of stock, or for financing the work of putting in and harvesting his crop. Decision as to whether an applicant shall get a loan is left with the local co-operative society of which he is a member, that is, with his neighbors, who should know his circumstances and his character better than is possible to either a banker or to the Government. Loans made under the Act are secured by the property of the term loans for the purchase of are secured by the property of the borrower, backed by the credit of the co-operative society, and the lender is further guaranteed against loss by the province to the coronary of the learn will be the coronary of the learn will be the coronary of the learn will be the coronary of the coro

The purpose of the "Cow Bill" is to enable farmers to buy cows and heifers for breeding purposes. Any person who has obtained entry for a homestead is eligible for the loan. Loans may be secured for terms up to five years. The interest rate is six per cent. The province guarantees the grain, this arrangements will en-able the farmer who is starting operations on a homestead to utilize the grass and hay which would otherwise go to waste, as well as help the one on a more developed farm to increase his herd. Just because years must elapse cheap, but it does not meet the before the world's supply of beef case. It will not do to simply tell can be brought back to normal, this Act is of particular importance. It assures that Alberta farmers will get a share of the benefits of the high prices while they last, and in the meantime will be doing their "bit" in this as in other respects to keep the cost of living somewhere within bounds of reason.

THOSE WOODEN STRIPS

Dear Sir.—The wooden sidewalks along certain streets and avenues are being beautified with strips. The work is a puzzle to me and others and we have all been asking one another what it means. Several theories have been advanced; but the one that has caught my fancy as the most --mible is that they are intended for boot-scrapers. Could the genius who invented and ordered the work let us into the secret? It now means that to renew a board two strips, from ten to sixteen feet long, will have to be removed and probably damaged in the attempt. This appears to many of us a uscless and extravagant expenditure. Why cannot nails be still used to keep the boards from flying up? The nails painted or rolled in tar before being driven would I think prolong the security and life of the boards. This present work is certainly the limit—a remarkable instance of ingenuity which puzzles Yopes really.

Petrograd, May 6, via London, May 7.—The Novoe Vremya this morning said in an editorial: "Hitherto international treaties have been torn up by one power only. Do we want to follow in her footsteps? If so our allies will cease to be our allies. They would have the right to despise and oppose us. We doubt whether Petrograd delegates could prevent the armies of the Mikado occupying Vladivostok and the whole of Siberia. FRENCH BEAT OFF WAVE UPON WAVE OF HUN RESERVES

Enemy Concentrates Efforts In Region of Laffaux-Quits When Exhausted

Paris, May 7-- The Germans concentrated their efforts yesterday morning in attacks on the west French front in the region of Laffaux, in the after-noon on the eastern section from Braye to Craonne. But the French held the whip hand and beat off wave upon wave of the enemy's dwindling reserves with terrible losses. More than that, the Frenchman, after hours of stiff fighting, still had the energy to push forward and press positions in or stiff fighting, still had the energy to push forward and press positions in the regions naturally fortified.

Desperate resistance of the Germans and the frequent counter-attacks in force are comprehensible when it is realized that, if the French capture Allemant and Pinon they will outflank the whole line running north to St. Quentin, General Nivelle, however, has no sinecure as he is confronted by the fumous Siegfried line, a system of fortifications on which the Germans have lavished weeks of work and which is of the most formidable type.

Were Annihilated.

The right wing German battalions streamed out of Fifain wood to Froidmont farm, which stands midway between Chevregny, and Hill 185. They virtually were annihilated. It would seem difficult for the Germans to prevent the French from reaching the Oise canal and the Ailete river on this part of the front. The famous Chemin-des-Dames, the key to the whole nection is now in great part in the possession of the French. In several places they have even gone far beyond it. It was the possession of this road which enabled the Germans to hold up the French advance for so long. Its capture alone shows the limportance of the success gained by Gen. Nivelie in the battles of Saturday and Sunday.

GOLF PROVES TO BE POPULAR PASTIME

Golfing is getting a highly popular pastime in the city and the municipal links are benefitting correspondingly. On Sunday there were 150 who pat-ronized the links at Victoria park and on Saturday there were a hundred or more who went round the course.

Last week's figures were between 70 and 80, but of course the weather the past week-end helped to bring people into the open air.

PITCHER ENRIGHT RELEASED.

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELIN'?

Sporting Facts and Fancies

George Burns, the doughty left fielder of the Giants, is earning the adoration of the New York fans these days. George got an early start and promises to keep up his .400 hitting.

When Stallings picked up outfielder Balley he once more justified his reputation as one of the shrewdest of managers. Balley has been demonstrating that he has good stuff in him. He played with the Washington and Lee team last year.

Speaking of pitchers, there's Burleigh Grimes, one of the Pirates' young hopefuls. Ever since Grimes made his start a few weeks ago he has had the eye of experts on him and he is justifying their good opinion of him.

The new pitchers introduced by Connie Mack are showing up in great shape. There's a whole quintet of them and Mack is pinning his pennant hopes in part on their work. There are the two Johnsons, J. and E. They are not related. J. comes from Girard College where his strong right hand brought him a big reputation. E. Johnson used to play with the Fort Worth club of the Texas League Club. Siebold, also a newcomer, made his mark with the Whealing Central League club last year and finally there is Parnham, who played with the Durham club of the North Carolina League.

One of the greatest batsmen ever developed in the national game was born on May 8. That was Dennis Brouthers, otherwise known as Dan, who saw the light at Sylvan Lake, N.Y., in the year 1858. In other ways this date has been notable in baseball annals.

1878—Paul Hines is credited with having made, unassisted, a triple play in the Boston-Providence game. Several players who were in the game swore he never made the play, but Tim Murnane, at the time baseball editor of the Boston Globe, swears he did. The matter has never been definitely settled.

1889—The Brooklyn American Association team beat Louisville, 21 to 2, scoring ten runs in the eighth inning.

1890—There was a great hitting bee for both Chicago teams on this day. The National League club made twelve runs in the sixth inning in their game with Cincinnati and the Players' League club, under Comiskey, pounded Pittsburg for twenty-four hits, netting twenty runs.

twenty runs.
1892—Boston and Cincinnati played fourteen innings against Amherst.

1963—In the American League, St. Louis beat Chicago in elever innings by a score of 13-12. The hits were 20 and 21 and total bases on hits were 23 and |26, or a total of 25 runs. 41 hits and a grand total of 49 bases.

Well, the Pirates know what the cellar feels like, too. Oh, shades of Hans Wagner. The Pirates had better call old Honus back from his chicken farm and learn some of his old hot stuff that kept the fans moving like jumping jacks.

The Braves are again managing to keep the other National League teams scared. This thing has become a habit with the Boston players and they have usually justified it.

As was expected, Fred Merkle is making good with the Cubs. Fred is filling Vic Saier's shoes at first base and is somewhat alleviating the sorrows of the Chicago fans over the latter's broken leg. The fact is, Merkle has made good all round and it was only the fat bankroll offered by President Weeghman of the Chicago outfit that rade Col. Ebbets of the Brooklyn team part with him. Meanwhile, President Dreyfuss of the Pirates is mourning the loss of a good chance to get Merkle for his own team. If he been willing to part with a little more cash instead of players the Brooklyns didn't want he might have had Fred, and his team might have had a better chance of winning the pennant than it now appears to have.

New York Lightweight Knocks Out Philadelphia Boxer In Sixth Round.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 7 .-PHILADELPHIA. Pa., May 7.—
Benny Leonard, the New York lightweight, knocked out Charlie (Kid)
Thomas, of Philadelphia, in the last round of their six round bout here tonight. Leonard clearly outclassed the local boxer in every round. Soon after the opening of the final round the New Yorker dropped Thomas to his knees with a right to the jaw and then a series of rights and lefts to the same spot put him down for the count.

At the end of the bout both of Thomas' eyes were nearly closed and his mouth and nose were badly swollen. Leonard weighed 133 pounds and Thomas 125. Thomas 136.

On May 7, 1997, Tommy Burns defeated Jack O'Brien in 29 rounds at Los Angeles. It was this bout, rather than his previous victory over Martin Hart, which put the Canadian in the running for the heavyweight championship. When Hart whipped Jack Root in Reno over a decade ago and Jeffries presented the victor with his title, the sporting world did not take the affair seriously, as it was considered that there were several better men than Hart, Burns and "Philadelphia Jack" were leading contenders, although both were light heavyweights. They first fought in Milwaukee in 1904, when the Philadelphian was the victor. A few months after his defeat of Hart, the Canadian fought O'Brien again, going 20 rounds to a draw in Los Angeles. The third session gave Burns the victory, although not by any wide margin, and he commenced the championship career which terminated when he met Johnson in Australia.

1894—Jake Kirain defeated William ("Prusslam") Sheriff in 3 rounds at Boston.

1895—Tommy Tracey knocked out Tom Cavanaugh in 8th round at Galveston.

He escaped at last, leaving the men srouped contentedly about huge pans of smoking doughnuts and pots of coffee, which the cock-boys had brought in. Liquor was tabou in the camp, but he gave orders that unlimited cigars be distributed.

When he reached his quarters he was completely fagged, for the crisis, coming on top of his many responsibilities, had taken all his viality.

His once cheerless room was warm and cory as he entered; he found Natalie sleeping peacefully on his bed and Eliza curied up in his big chair waiting. She opened her eyes drowaily and smiled at him, saying:

"You were splendid, Omar Khayyam. I'm so glad."

He laid a finger on his lips and glanced at the sleeping Natalie.
"Sh-hi"

"Where are you going to put us for the night?"

for the night?"

"Those men will do anything for you now. I—I think I'd die, too, if anything happened to the bridge."

He took her hand in his and smiled down into her earnest eyes a little wearily. "Nothing will happen. Now go to bed—and thank you for making a home for me. It really is a home now. I'll appreciate it tomorrow."

ing a home for me. It really is a home now. I'll appreciate it tomorrow."

He tiptoed out and tramped over to Parkers quarters for the might.

The news of the White River flasco reached Curtis Gordon in Seattle, whither he had gone in a final attempt to bolster up the tottering forl tunes of the Cortez Home Railway. His diseppointment was keen, yet O'Neil from the beginning had met his attacks with such uniform success that new failure did not really surprise him; it had been a forlorn hope at best. Strangely enough, he had begun to lose something of his assurance of late. Although he maintained his outward appearance of confidence with all his old skill, within himself he felt a growing uneasiness, a lurking doubt of his abilities. Outwardly there was reason enough for discouragement, for, while his co-operative railroad scheme had begun brilliantly, its initial success had not been maintained. As time passed and Eliza Appleton's exposure remained unrefuted he had found it even more difficult to enlist support. His own denials and explanations seemed powerless to affect the public mind, and as he looked back he dated his decline from the appearance of her first article. It had done all the mischief he he looked back he dated his decline from the appearance of her first article. It had done all the mischief he had feared. Not only were his old stock-holders dissatisfied, but wherever he went for aid he found a disconcerting lack of response, a shalf-veiled skepticism that was maddening. Yet his immediate business worries were not all, nor the worst of his troubles; his physical powers were waning. To all appearances he was as strong as ever, but a strange bodily lassitude hampered him; he tired easily, and against this handicap he was forced to struggle continually. He had never rightly valued his amazing ly, and against this handicap he was forced to struggle continually. He had never rightly valued hig amazing equipment of energy until now, when some subtle ailment had begun to sap it. The change was less in his muscular strength than in his nerves and mental vigor. He found himself growing peculiarly irritable; his failures excited spasms of blind fury which left him weak and spent; he began to suffer the depressing tortures of insomnia. At times the nerves in his face and neck twitched unaccountably and this distressing affection spread. These symptoms had first manifested themselves after his unnerciful drubbing at the hands of Dan Appleton; but they were not the result of

When he had recovered his senses after the departure of Dan and Natalie, he had fallen into a paroxysm of anger that lasted for days; he had raged and stormed like a madman, for, to say nothing of other humiliations, he prided himself extravagantly on his physical prowess. While the marks of the rough treatment he had suffered were disappearing he remained indoors, plunged in such abysmal fury that neither Gloria nor the fawning Denny dared approach him. The very force of his emotions had permanently disturbed his poise, or perhaps effected some obscure lesion in his brain. Even when he showed himself again in public he was still abnormally choleric. His fits of passion became almost apoplectic in their violence; they caused his associates to shup him as apoplectic in their violence; they caused his associates to shun him as a man dangerous, and in his calmer moments he thought of them with a man dangerous, and in his calmer moments he thought of them with alarm. He had tried to regain his nervous control, but without success, and his wife's anxiety only chafed him further. Gradually he lost his mental buoyancy, and for the first time in his life he really yielded to pessimism. He found he could no longer attach. tack a problem with his accustomed

On Face and Hands—Local Doc-tors Treated Him in Vain—How Cure Was Finally Effected

Trenton, Ont., April 18.—This letter will interest all mothers of young children, because it tells of the best means obtainable of overcoming the annoying and torturing skin troubles which come to so many children.

Mrs. Waldron had several doctors treating her boy for ecsema, but all in vain. Finally she heard about Dr. Chase's Ointment and her letter tells of the wonderful results obtained by the use of this soothing, healing ointment.

Mrs. Samuel Waldron, George St., Trenton, Ont., writes: "About four years ago, my little boy had a rash on his face and hands which the doctor called eczema. He gave us a wash for it, and some ointment, which we used, but without benefit. I think we tried all the doctors here. Finally we tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and gave it a good trial. We could see that it was gradually healing. At first it appeared to burn the skin, then this skin would peel up, finally he got rid of it entirely. During the winters of the next two years we noticed a symptom of the disease under the skin. Each time we used more Dr. Chase's Ointment curing it both times. For the last two years he has not had any return symptoms at all, so we think that he is now entirely cured."

He escaped at last, leaving the men grouped contentedly about huge pans of smoking doughnuts and pots of coffee, which the cook-boys had brought in. Liquor was taboo in the camp, but he gave orders that unlimited cigars be distributed.

When he reached his quarters he was completely fagged, for the crisis, coming on top of his many responsibilities, had taken all his vtality.

His once cheerless room was warm and cozy as he entered; he found Natalie sleeping peacefully on his bed and Elisa curled up in his big chair waiting. She opened her eyes drowsily and smiled at him, saying:

he needed. He had lost his tinesse; his nicely adjusted financial sense had gone.

The outcome was not long delayed; it came in the form of a newspaper despatch to the effect that his Cortez bank had suspended payment because of a run started by the dissatisfied employees of the railroad. Through Gordon's flamboyant advertising his enterprises were so well known by this time that the story was featured despite his efforts to kill it. His frantic cables to Cortez for a denial only brought assurances that the report was true and that conditions would not mend unless a shipment of currency was immediately forthcoming.

Harassed by reporters, driven on by the need for a show of action, he set out to raise the money, but the support he had hoped for failed him when it transpired that his bank's assets consisted mainly of real estate at boom prices and stock in his various companies which had been inflated to the bursting-point. Days passed, a week for more; then he was compelled to relinquish his option on the steamship line he had parily purchased, and to sacrifice all that he had paid in on the enterprise. This, too, made a big story for the newspapers, for it punctured one of the most imposing corporations in the famous "Gordon System." It likewise threatened to involve the others in the general crash. Hope Consolidated, indeed, still remained, and Gordon's declaration that the value of its shares was more than sufficient to protect his bank met with some credence until, swift upon the heels of the other disasters, came an application for a receiver by the stock-holders, coupled with the promise of a rigorous investigation into his various financial manipulations. Then at last Gordon acknowledged defeat.

Ruin had come swiftly; the diversity of his interests made his situation the more hopeless, for so cunningly had he interlocked one with another that to separate them promised to be an endless task.

He still kept up a fairly successful pretense of confidence, and publicly he promised to bring order out of chaos, but in scoret he gave way to the blackest despair. Heretofore, failure had never affected him deeply, for he had always managed to escape with advantage to his pocket and without serious damage to his prestige, but out of the present difficulty he could not find a way. His office force stopped work, frightened at his bearing; the bellboys of his hotel brought to the desk tales of such maniacal violence that he was requested to move.

At last the citizens of Cortez, who up to this time had been like putty in his fingers.

One evening as Captain Johnny Brennan stood on the dock superintending the final loading of a cargo for the S. R. & N. he was accosted by a tall, nervous man with shifting eyes and twitching lips. He was hard to recognize in this pitiable shaken creature the once resplendent Gordon, who had bent the whole northiand to his ends. I had suffered terribly with my heart for nearly ten years, could scarcely do any work, and would nearly smother at times. I had many remedies, some only relieving me for a time. Uncle Wiggily and Charlie's Crow

"Well. Charlie , where are you going this morning; to a picnic?" asked Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, as he saw a little rooster boy come along the road through the woods one day.

boy come along the road through the woods one day.

"A picinic? Oh, no, Uncle Wiggily, Why do you ask that?" Charlie wanted to know.

"Because you are so dressed up; as though you were going to Washington to look at the big monument there, or to Atlantic City to hear the waves whisper to the sand."

And indeed, Charlie was looking very nice. His tall feathers were shiny, black and curled. His wings were all fluffed out and the red dingle-dangles under his chin were as bright as a circus balloon.

"No, I am not going away," said the little rooster boy. "But you see today I make my first crow and we young roosters always dress up when that happens."

"Your first crow? What do you mean?" asked the bunny uncle.

"I mean I am going to make my first big cock-a-doodle-do-crow," said Charlie. "You see we young roosters have to stay with the girl chickens and hens when we are young, as then we can only make a sort of clicking-clucking noise, and not a proper crow at all.

"But when we get older, as I am,

we can only make a sort of clickingclucking noise, and not a proper crow at all.

"But when we get older, as I am,
we get a crow-noise-making-thing in our throats, and then the old roosters listen to us. If we crow well enough we are allowed to tra-----el around with them, to crow and tell the hens when there is danger from a hawk.

"So today the old roosters are going to listen to me make my first real loud regular cock-a-doodle-do crows, and if I do well, then I'll be all grown up' and Charile sort of looked at his tail over his shoulder to see if it hung properly. He was almost like a girl with her first new party dress.

"Do you think you can crow all right, Charile?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he came down off the steps of his hollow stump bungalow and walked along with the little rooster boy.

"Oh, yes, indeed," was the answer.
"Do you want to hear me?" and then Charile stood up on his tiotoenalis and zave such a number of loud cock-adoodle-oodies that Nurse Jane Fuzzy for Uncle Wiggily, had to cover up her ears.

"What's it all about?" she asked.

"What's it all about?" she asked.

"Oh, Charile is just practicing his crowing lesson," said Uncle Wiggly,
"I must come to hear you, 'he went on. "But first I have to go to the store to buy Nurse Jane a tin dinner horn. Then I'll come."

"A tin dinner horn for Nurse Jane!" clucked Charile. "You don't mean to say she is going to eat that for dinner do you?"

"Oh no, indeed!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, "But you see summer is coming and I will be at work in my garden, sometimes far from my bungalow. At such times Nurse Jane will blow the fin horn to call me to dinner."

"Oh, I see," said Charile, and he gave another crew to keep in practice. Then Uncle Wiggily went to buy the horn and Charile started to get ready to show the old roosters how well he could frighten hawks, It was a sort of lesson examination for the rooster boy, you see,

He suddenly caught cold and now he is so hoarse he can't crow hardly any and he won't pass his examination and be allowed to go with the big soosters and scare hawks. Oh, dear:"

"How?" asked Susie, clapping her paws.
"Wait and see." said the bunny, twinkling his pink nose.
Pretty soon the old roosters gathered together on top of the fence, for they can always crow best there. Then Mr. Cock A. Doodle, the oldest rooster of them all, said:
"Now then, bring out the young roosters that want to crow." A number of them came, crowed very well, indiced, passed their examinations and were told they could be regular big roosters now. Then Mr. Doodle asked:
"Any more?"
"If you please," said Mrs. Cluck-Cluck, Charlie's mother, "my little boy was to have his voice tried today, but he fell in the brook and has a coid, and..."
"We'll hear him anyhow," said Mr.

he feil in the brook and has a coid, and—"We'll hear him anyhow," said Mr. Doodle. "If he can't crow well he'll have to try another time."

Poor Charlie was very nervous. He wanted to crow and pags, but he was straid he could only squeak. But still he flew up on top of the fence, and crened his beak. He only expected a little squawk to come out, but Uncle Wiegelly was watching down behind an old stump, and when the bunny rabbil eaw Charlie start to try to crow Uncle Wiggliy made believe he was all excited like, and he blew the tin dinner horn.

The horn went: "Toot! Toot! Squawk! Honk! Doodle!" and what Charlie's little crow, and the big noise the horn made, we couldn't tell which was which or 'tother.

"Very well done, indeed," said Mr. Doodle, and all the other roosters, "Charlie has made his crow and he can join us." But what they really heard, mostly, was Uncle Wiggily's horn. Charlie had only crowed a little bit

"Oh. I'm so slad you blew the horn." said Charlie to the bunny. "It saved my voice, and I know I can crow all right after I get over my sold." and sa he could.
